Federal Government Satisfaction

Survey of Canadians

March 2, 2026

Methodology

This week, we surveyed Canadians on politics, government performance, and key national issues.

Method

Online survey among respondents 18 years of age or older.
(Canadian sample: n= 1,627)

Respondents had the option of completing the survey in French and English and were randomly recruited using LEO's online panel.

Weighting

Results were weighted according to age, gender, mother tongue, region, education and presence of children in the household in order to ensure a representative sample of the Canadian population.

When

Data collection from February 27 to March 2, 2026.

Margin of error

For comparison purposes, a probability sample of this size yields a margin of error no greater than ±2.43%, (19 times out of 20) for the sample.

Significant differences

Data in bold red characters indicate a significantly lower proportion than that of other respondents. Conversely, data in bold green characters indicate a significantly higher proportion than that of other respondents.

Rounded data

The numbers presented have been rounded up. However, the numbers before rounding were used to calculate the sums presented and might therefore not correspond to the manual addition of these numbers.

Key Highlights

Some of the key highlights of our survey...

Mark Carney's satisfaction and approval ratings continue to rise this month, sustaining their upward momentum. The Liberal Party under his leadership also remains ahead in voting intentions.

- The Liberals hold 49% among decided voters (+2 points since last month), maintaining a lead over the Conservatives at 35% (-3 points).
- Nearly six in ten Canadians (59%, +1 point) say they are satisfied with the performance of the Liberal government led by Mark Carney, compared with 33% who say they are dissatisfied. Satisfaction is higher among those aged 55 and over (66%) and rises to 93% among Liberal voters. Conservative voters, on the other hand, show a significantly lower satisfaction rate (25%).
- Approval of the job done by Mark Carney has increased by 2 points this month, with more than six in ten Canadians expressing approval, compared with 31% who disapprove. Older Canadians are more likely to approve of his performance, with 66% of those aged 55 and over expressing approval. Support is nearly unanimous among Liberal voters (95%), while just over one quarter of Conservative voters approve (27%).
- Half of Canadians (49%) believe the next federal election should be held in 2029, as set out in fixed election date legislation. In contrast, 10% say it should happen now, with similar proportions preferring this spring (11%) or this fall (13%). Partisan differences are pronounced: 24% of Conservative voters want an immediate election, compared with 71% of Liberal voters who favour waiting until 2029.
